INDEPENDENT
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

OVERVIEW

At Independent Presbyterian Church, we believe God calls us to be a Christian community, actively engaged in transforming lives through our living faith in Jesus Christ and the power of the Holy Spirit. Christian community by its very nature is a very close community—we enjoy each other's company and presence by spending time together in fellowship, worship and by the breaking of bread. This year has been really challenging for both staff and lay people alike on how to actively engage in transforming lives while keeping everyone safe. This document will provide information about a phased approach to return to in-person gatherings, sources used by the H&P Reopening Task Force for guidance, facility guidelines and frequently asked questions.

When the time is appropriate to return to the church campus for in-person worship and small groups gathering, it must be done in a manner that is measured, focused and safe.

- IPC will reopen in a measured way. We will take into consideration the recommendations of the Center for Disease Control, the Alabama Department of Health, the Jefferson County Department of Health, state and local leaders and agencies. We must re-open in a way that keeps those that are more vulnerable safe from the potential harm of the virus.

- IPC will reopen in a focused way. As we remain focused on actively engaging in transforming lives through Jesus Christ, we will remain focused on the physical, spiritual and emotional well-being of our congregation and our guests.

- IPC will reopen in a safe way. We will determine which priorities of the church need to happen immediately and which ones will be added later. Our goal is to resume activities as soon as it is safe to do so.

Our first priority when it comes to re-opening the church has always been and will continue to be the health and safety of our members and visitors. For that reason, we have not set a date to return, rather our task force has focused on looking at what the data is telling us. A downward trend in active cases of COVID-19 would give more assurance to the task force that the group was moving in the right direction by re-opening the church.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

CONGREGATIONAL RE-OPENING SURVEY

From the recent survey, we can make some observations about the congregation's desire to return to in-person worship and small group gatherings. One observation is that the majority of people value safety over risk and also that they would cooperate with reasonable guidelines to keep themselves and others safe. However, in a group size of 1,800 people, there are varying degrees of risk tolerance that people are willing to accept. The survey also highlights that the majority of people surveyed are not ready to return to in-person gatherings and worship. The age demographics help us to determine that the majority of those desiring to attend small groups/ Sunday School classes and also attend in-person worship at the first opportunity are in a high risk category. At this point in time, the House & Properties Task Force feels it is necessary to continue to worship online until a safer margin exists.

The team is also working on a phased approach to returning to in-person worship as well as small group gatherings. When the appropriate time comes to return to the church campus, there will be a conscious effort to have dual offerings for those who want to wait a little longer before returning in person. The next report from the team should be available in the near future along with some FAQs on what to expect when returning to the church campus. Thank you for taking time to share valuable information in the church wide survey, and be on the lookout for the next report.

Stay safe,

FAQ

Why aren't we reopening and resuming worship and all small group gatherings? Other churches are doing it.

Independent Presbyterian Church cares deeply for our congregation and for our community as well. The H&P Task Force has prioritized reopening the church in a measured, focused and safe manner so as to not do any harm to those we serve.

Will masks be required when we return to the church campus? What about social distancing

The best guidance available today advises that maintaining six feet of social distancing for those outside of your household, washing your hands with warm soapy water and wearing masks are the easiest ways to slow and prevent contracting or transmitting Covid-19. Wearing a mask not only protects you, but also those around you. For these reasons, anyone entering the church campus will be required to wear a mask for work, worship, or any small group gatherings, etc.

We know you are eager to see your church family, but not everyone is ready for a handshake or a hug. We want to help create an environment that is comfortable for the majority, so that means limiting personal contact as much as possible for the time being. By being courteous, even if we do not agree, we can show that our love for one another is more than just a handshake or a hug.

How many people will be allowed into the Sanctuary when we return for worship? Are reservations required?

The H&P Task Force and the church staff will continue to review recommendations from the CDC, other churches and government agencies to determine the appropriate capacity in worship. As we move toward resuming in-person worship, detailed information will be sent out to help facilitate the process, including

What is IPC doing to keep the church facilities clean?

During this time while the building is closed, our housekeeping and facilities staff are working tirelessly to clean and sanitize the building, perform preventative maintenance on all equipment, and are ensuring that everything is performing at optimal levels. All HVAC systems have been serviced and filters replaced, and fresh air intake has been adjusted to introduce as much outside air as possible. We will ensure continuous air circulation while the building is occupied. We are following CDC recommendations for cleaning and disinfecting surfaces. Hand sanitizer will be available, and high contact points will be thoroughly sanitized before, during, and after each worship service or gathering in the building.

While we are doing everything we can to keep things clean, however we know that it is up to each individual to choose whether it is in their best interest to attend services or events and that you do so at your own risk.

Is the church building open? Can I drop off my pledge check in person?

For the time being, the church building will remain closed until deemed safe to reopen. We encourage you to mail in your tithes and offerings by mail or give online using our safe and secure giving link at <https://ipc-usa.org/give/>

If you need to deliver your gift in person, please contact a staff member for assistance.

While the building is closed, our church family continues to do important mission work in our community and your continued financial support is vital to these ongoing works and we thank you for your faithful giving.
